

Call for Proposals
2022 Gale-CLGBTH
Non-Residential Fellowships

Gale and the Committee on LGBT History, in collaboration with the Queer History Conference 2022, seek applications for five (5) Non-Residential Fellowships, which will support research or teaching projects that use Gale's Archives of Sexuality and Gender and use digital humanities methodologies. Awarded fellows will be given access to Archives of Sexuality and Gender and the Gale Digital Scholar Lab for the duration of their fellowship. Proposals from any subfield within LGBT studies are welcome, but applicants must make clear how they will use digital methods and the Archives of Sexuality and Gender corpus to further their research and/or teaching.

Each of these five non-residential fellows will receive $2,500 and access to Gale's Archives of Sexuality and Gender and the Gale Digital Scholar Lab. Awardees will also receive training on how to use Gale Digital Scholar Lab. Work is expected to be completed by December 31, 2022. Each fellowship will support the equivalent of one-month's full-time work (160 hours). Awardees may dedicate four consecutive weeks of their full working hours to the fellowship project, or they may spread their work out over a longer period.

Within one (1) month of the conclusion of their Fellowship, each awardee will submit a 2–3 page case study derived from their work that explains how they used the corpus of materials in Archives of Sexuality and Gender and the tools in Gale Digital Scholar Lab.
